

Many Witness Ground Breaking

Present for the ground-breaking ceremony of a new educational unit of Welteria Community Methodist Church Sunday were Dr. Stanley McKee, Long Beach district superintendent; Rev. Wendell Hook, local pastor; Mayor Albert Isen, Councilmen Victor Benstead and J. A. Beasley, and officers of the church.

These included Jerry Anderson, lay leader; Mrs. Robert Cramer, education commission chairman; Stewart Rose, building committee chairman; and Douglas Cunningham, Methodist Youth Fellowship chairman.

Two Stories

The new unit will be a two-story structure for classrooms, kitchen, nursery, minister's study and the Sunday School superintendent's office.

It is the latest stage of growth of the church founded in Sept. 1951. In Oct. '53, the church dedicated its present building which doubled as a sanctuary and Sunday School rooms. Doubling of Sunday School attendance since that time has made the present construction necessary.

At a total cost of $43,000 the building will be completed by January 1, 1959.

For the current "Back to School" safety campaign, the Milk Industries Foundation is providing more than two-million milk cartons bearing the slogan, "School's Open — Be Extra Alert."

Music prior to the ceremony, while the guests were being seated, came through speakers as did the vocal selection, "The Lord's Prayer", and the wedding march.

Local Woman Writes Article On California Grunion Hunting

An article on grunion hunting, written by Mrs. L. G. Bertschy, 5500 Torrance Blvd., will be published in the forthcoming November issue of the new Los Angeles Magazine. It was announced today by Editor Myron Roberts.

The article is based on two attempts at grunion hunting in Redondo (where she was unsuccessful) and at Manhattan Beach. On the first attempt, Mrs. Bertschy, her husband and another couple joined a large crowd gathered at the beach on the last night of the predicted run. There was no sign of grunion.

Second Try The second attempt followed a remark by a TV announcer at the end of his weather predictions, "Believe it or not, the grunion will run tonight, between 10-11."

The Bertschys and another couple decided to see and this time were the only people on the beach. They were about to give up when along came a huge wave with thousands of grunion.

They had grunion for breakfast though Mrs. Bertschy comments, "I didn't care much for them. I'm really rather sorry for them."

Beautifully Written Her account is described by the editors of Los Angeles as a "beautifully written account of a unique Southern California experience."

In May of 1941 Mrs. Bertschy received first place in district four, of a national essay contest sponsored by Atlantic Monthly and the National Federation of Women's Clubs. Her article, "Without Benefit of Maps" brought a cash prize and a trip to Atlantic City where contest winners were feted at an award banquet.

There they met Edward Weeks, editor of Atlantic Monthly, an experience treasured by the Torrance woman (then a resident of North Dakota).

The Bertschys have lived in Torrance for ten years during which time, they have managed
